

IC SPICY

SPICY Utility Explainer

A non-legal consumer-friendly utility overview.

For community education before deeper legal disclosure.

Farm-grown heat. Chef-built flavor. Blockchain-backed provenance.

Prepared May 2026 - Draft marketing material; legal review required before public token claims.

What SPICY Is

SPICY is planned as an ICRC-1 utility token for IC SPICY ecosystem functions. Formal token details require legal review and should be governed by the token disclosure document when published.

Planned Utility

Pay-with-SPICY burns, recipe submission gate and burn, SpicyAI bonus calls, Legend badge, NFT redemption pool mechanics, and treasury transparency surfaces.

What SPICY Is Not

SPICY is not equity, profit share, a dividend right, a claim on treasury assets, or a guarantee of future value.

Customer Framing

For mainstream customers, SPICY should be secondary. The physical products and brand experience come first.

Compliance Reminder

Do not publish token claims, launch dates, pricing, or financial language without legal review.
